THE CAPE MOTORSPORT FESTIVAL

South Africa's oldest motorsport facility is proud to announce the Cape International Motorsport Festival to be held at Killarney International Raceway in Cape Town on Saturday, 13 and Sunday, 14 December 2025.

The festival weekend includes: The Cape International Six-Hour Endurance Race for cars incorporating the Cape Three-Hour Challenge, The Killarney Eight-Hour Motorcycle Endurance Race to be held on the Karting Circuit, Sprint races for the Laude Classic Cars as well as Kaltron Formula Supercars & Fine Cars, parades by legends of South African motorsport & car clubs and a Spinkhana on the Castrol spinning pitch.

This festival offers a unique opportunity for all motorsport enthusiasts to be entertained within different disciplines at a time when there is little to no other motorsport activity in South Africa, and the seasonal weather offers a holiday opportunity for those from the northern hemisphere in Cape Town, a city rated as the best in the world in 2025.

It also offers an occasion to race on one of the most iconic tracks worldwide, the circuit having remained unchanged in layout since it hosted two international Grands Prix in 1960 and 1962.

The Cape International Six-Hour on Sunday, 14 December incorporates two international endurance events of three-hours duration. Confirmed international entries include Le Mans winners Jan Lammers and Emanuele Pirro, multiple sports car champion Jeroen Bleekemolen, and the former IMSA champion Juan-Manuel Fangio II.

There will also be a Spinkhana event held at the circuit's bespoke Castrol Spinning Pitch by SPIN Outlaws from 09:00am to 17:00pm.

Other activations include kiddies' entertainment along with stalls serving food and beverages, live music, parades, a grid walk and Cobra Backdraft Displays in the Joubert Pits.

Background to Killarney and Endurance Racing

Motorsport started at Killarney just after the Second World War. The current layout of the Killarney International Raceway was built in 1960 to meet the requirements for F1 racing at that time. The layout remains unchanged although the circuit has been widened in areas and improved safety features installed.

Since 1960, the following tracks have been added: a karting circuit, drag strip, oval track and a FIA approved world rallycross circuit. The Killarney facility is operated by the Western Province Motor Club. At the same time, the Killarney Eight-Hour for 125/150cc motorcycles will be run on the karting circuit. This is the 43rd consecutive year on which this event has been staged.

Endurance racing at Killarney started in November 1958, with a Four-Hour production race, being followed by several Two-Hour races in 1960, 1962 and 1963, before a Three-Hour event appeared in 1964 for the first time. This came to form part of the Springbok Series end-of-year endurance races along with events in Pietermaritzburg at Roy Hesketh, Lourenco Marques, Bulawayo, Welkom as well as East London, these all following the traditional Kyalami Nine-Hour.

The 1973 fuel crisis saw these events discontinued, to be replaced by sporadic, largely production car races, of three, six and eight-hour duration Killarney during the 1980s. Killarney resuscitated its endurance series with its Nine-Hour in 2015, which has been held regularly since.

IN MEMORIAM...

RIP RONAN SCHULZ

Some men live extraordinary lives, yet with so little fuss and fanfare that only those closest to them know what they achieved. One such was Ronan Schulz, who passed away as he had lived, in the early hours of Tuesday 11 November, after suffering a massive heart attack at the age of 72.

Ronan was one of four racing Schulz brothers from Gauteng, all of whom competed in the most demanding motorcycle racing discipline of them all – 250cc two-stroke Grand Prix bikes. The third of the four brothers (Richard, William, Ronan and Rory), he began his racing career as a teenager on a 50cc two-stroke Yamaha at the Isando Raceway in Kempton Park.

In the early 1970s he graduated to Kyalami, riding a Yamaha TZ250 in both Regional and National series. The highlight of his career, he said, was qualifying for the wet 1983 South African 250cc Grand Prix at Kyalami. In the image below he is seen together with works Kawasaki rider Anton Mang.

He didn't finish the race, but sharing the track with the world's top riders, he felt, was a privilege.

In 1987 Ronan broke his foot in a crash at Sunset and decided to hang up his helmet; his love for the temperamental, highly strung Grand Prix two-strokes never waned, however. In 2002 began restoring a 1984 Yamaha TZ250L, with which he took part in the Day of the Champions at Zwartkops every year from 2005 to 2018.

Ronan and his wife Isabel relocated to Cape Town in 2022, to within the sound of Killarney; he often tinkered in his son Brendan's motorcycle workshop but never rode a motorcycle on the road, saying he simply didn't enjoy it.

The era of the red hot two-strokes is gone now. So too, sadly, is Ronan Schulz, whose happy place was the narrow power band of a Grand Prix machine. Our thoughts and prayers are with Isabel, Brendan, his sister Alanna and the extended Schulz family in this difficult time.

RIP ROLAND WINGEIER

If you raced a motorcycle at Killarney in the 1990's and early 2000's, the standard for meticulous preparation and attention to detail was set by Roland Wingeier. Whatever he rode during a long and successful racing career, it was always the cleanest, neatest and sweetest-running machine on the grid.

Never an aggressive rider, he was fast and smooth, his lap times uncannily consistent; he did well in the annual two-hour endurance races that were a feature at the time.

He passed away unexpectedly on Thursday 20 November at the age of 73 after a heart attack, leaving a huge gap in his closely-knit circle of fellow riders.

Now the 'go-to guy' who loved to sing in the evenings is gone, and the world is poorer for his passing. We extend our sincere condolences to his lady Nannette and his family in Switzerland in this sad time.

EVENT OVERVIEW

The Cape International Six-Hour comprises two separate Three-Hour races, both being run an hour apart on Sunday 14th December 2025.

There will be a parade of legends on Sunday 14 December.

The Cape International Six-Hour races will start at 1100. At the end of the first Three-Hour at 1400, the cars will return to the pits and may be repaired/ worked on in preparation for the second Three-Hour race.

The positions based on number of laps and times from the first Three-Hour will be used to determine the starting positions of the second Three-Hour race.

The results for the Cape International Six-Hour Endurance Race will be determined by combining the number of laps and times for the two Three-Hour events.

This endurance event is unique in that it will be run within set lap times with the overall limiting factor being the rule is that if the fastest break-out time for each class is exceeded, that lap time will be deleted.

This rule will apply to all classes. Cars and competitors that participated in the Ilamuna endurance races in 2025 at Killarney and elsewhere, are encouraged to participate. Organisers reserve the right to not accept an entry if, in their opinion, it contravenes the spirit of the event.

Cape Three-Hour Challenge

Those wishing to only do a single Three-Hour endurance race, will be able to do so in the first leg of the Cape International Six-Hour.

They will not be considered for the overall Six-Hour results. Other than compliance with MSA safety regulations and the overall limiting factor regarding lap times, the Three-Hour challenge is open to any type of vehicle, with no restriction on capacity, performance, tyres, etc.

This challenge will also be run according to time-based classes as above. If the fastest class break-out time is exceeded, that lap will be deleted.

This applies to all classes.

A minimum of two drivers per car is required. No driver may drive for less than sixty minutes in the Three-Hour challenge. There will be a five-lap penalty for contravention of this rule.

Pits

37 Lock up pits on pit lane in the old paddock will be offered to the Cape International Six Hour entrants. Competitors for the Cape Three-Hour Challenge will be in the open paddocks in the old pits.

Awards for the Cape International Six-Hour Endurance Race

- Overall 1st to 5th place
- Index of performance 1st to 5th place
- Class awards 1st to 3rd place
- The overall positions as well as class positions will be awarded on combined laps and times of the two Three-Hour races.

Awards for Cape Three-Hour Challenge

- Overall 1st to 3rd place - Overall Index of performance 1st to 3rd place
- Class awards 1st to 3rd place
